Back on Track

>Welcome to this edition of Fearnfile, our first since our students returned to the school site. It has been a wonderful week for welcoming people back and settling into learning routines. Thank you for all your support in making sure your child has arrived in full uniform, fully equipped and eager to learn. Students have also been issued with their home Covid testing kits, and we will be keeping you up to date on any other new guidance we get from the government on keeping everyone safe, now that 'normality' is starting to return.

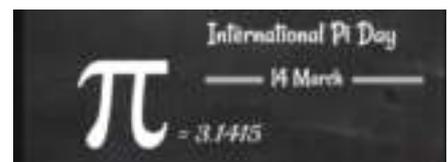

There is a maths and English focus in this edition as the UK Intermediate Maths Challenge results are in, as well as the information you can find on Pi Week next week – lots of competitions and activities for students to get involved with. There are photos and reports on World Book Day, and information about what each year group is covering in English as we settle back into routines. There is a new national campaign called 'Turn on the Subtitles' – find out more inside!

Keeping fit during lockdown has been a challenge for all of us; the PE department have brought together pictures and a report on how Fearnhill students have tackled it. Finally, the UK Apprenticeship Search Virtual Fair is coming up on 17th March and will open lots of possibilities and pathways for the future, so make sure you check out the details.

Thank you as always for your support.

Year 10 Virtual Work Experience

As mentioned in a previous edition, unfortunately the Year 10 students will not have the opportunity to go out on Work Experience this academic year due to the current pandemic. As with most plans this year, the students will miss out on physically going into the workplace but we aim to give them the chance to prepare for, be involved in and feedback on virtual work experience.

Over the next few weeks in PSHE lessons Year 10 students will be taking part in a series of webinars in which they will be able to record the knowledge they have gained about their chosen work sectors and be able to add this virtual experience to their CVs.

We pride ourselves on our work experience successes over the years and the invaluable opportunity that serves to develop their employability skills. Despite it being a different format this year, it will continue to be an experience that opens the students eyes to the opportunities available, the skills required and participation in the event able to be added to their cv.

National Careers Week Follow Up

During National Careers Week staff were asked to think about a famous and non-famous person who inspires them and what they do for their job/career including the reason behind their choices. Here are some of the people/jobs they chose:

Sir David Attenborough - for keeping working to try and save our planet. He is passionate and articulate about our wildlife and planet and using his position to try and make us all change how we behave.

Museum and art curators - it would be very easy for life to be just about the "essentials" and "stuff". Food, shelter, money, possessions. But we need to feed our souls as well as our stomachs and lists of possessions. Seeing beauty, learning about the past, surrounding ourselves with things outside the ordinary. We need people to maintain such objects and places. To ensure they are kept for us to enjoy and for future generations to experience. There is a lot of work involved in this - and they are often the unsung heroes of our days out, the TV documentary, the newspaper article.

Marcus Rashford - I'm not a football supporter but I do know he is a forward for Man Utd. I have found his campaign for free school meals incredibly inspiring as I don't think that many people realise the extent of child food poverty in England.

Paramedics - they work under intense pressure giving emergency medical care, often going into violent situations and putting themselves at risk.

David Attenborough - broadcaster and naturalist presenter. Opening our eyes to both the wonders and fragility of the natural world.

Carer - looking after people who cannot fully care for themselves by washing, dressing, feeding and spending time with them. Going above and beyond to care for residents like their own family.

Van Gogh - a painter who painted people and places that he really cared about. His work really evokes expression and an emotional response for me.

Macmillan Nurses - who provide their time to listen and talk, give the utmost loving care and emotional support to sick patients.

Ant & Dec - being a tv presenter means you always have to present yourself in a positive way, appearing upbeat & happy no matter what. This pair bring laughter and joy to so many people.

Paramedic - a physically and psychologically demanding job that can sometimes be overlooked. Inspiring because they not only save lives on a daily basis, but they have the ability to remain calm and reassuring in high stress moments.

Michelle Obama (First African American First Lady) - a great role model because of the work she has done helping communities tackle tough growing issues, yet she remains humble and down to earth.

Police officers - They put themselves at risk everyday trying to make a difference protecting and serving society.

Megan Rapinoe - for her activism working towards equal rights for all.

Vaccine scientists - for their incredible work researching and developing different vaccines in response to COVID 19.

JK Rowling - for writing such amazing books and never giving up despite so many rejections from publishers. Providing so many billions of happy hrs of reading to so many children and adults all around the world. Creating thousands of jobs in publishing, film making, theme parks, marketing and merchandise production.

Carers - Paige cares for my Godfather who is 84, suffering from advanced dementia and lives in a care home. She feeds him, washes him, dresses him, paints and plays bingo with him, arranges facetime calls for him and talks to him with kindness and respect. She is always happy and cheerful and genuinely loves her job.

Marie Curie - for her relentless work in the field of science, regardless of the resistance she met because of her gender and background, and for the major changes her work made to healthcare.

Paramedic - for the way they go out into the community regardless of danger/difficulty, for bringing care, life-saving skills and reassurance to people in need.

Nick Cave (Singer-songwriter) - I find his music inspiring. Sometimes spiritually uplifting, sometimes dark and intense.

My orthopaedic surgeon - who gave me a new knee and with it, the gift of a new lease of life.

Tim Peake (astronaut) - I watched an interview with him and his story is amazing. The sacrifice he made and dedication to going into space is commendable beyond words!

Builders - I have been seeing the progress of an extension across the road everyday for the last few months. The hard work that goes into building and the skills involved is totally underestimated! It is amazing how it all comes together having started as foundations being dug.

Gary Barlow - singing and songwriting talent spanning over decades fronting a successful band with fastest selling touring UK history. Using his position as a platform to organise charity events raising in excess of £6 million.

Delivery Drivers - throughout this pandemic they have worked tirelessly delivering shopping to shielding and high risk customers. Whilst the majority of the world were told to stay home key workers kept calm and carried on.

Happy people in service jobs - dentist receptionist, nurses, caretakers, checkout people, the daily abuse they face and yet continue to smile and do their job, they get shouted at because things don't work, things aren't as people expected or something has been cancelled, it is rarely, if ever these people fault but they just get on and do their job. When I see this, it inspires me to do the same, keep smiling and do my job to the best of my ability with what I have on the day.

Marcus Rashford - over the last year he has used his fame to actively campaign for those less fortunate, working to provide food for children that need it over school holidays.

Supermarket staff - they have taken risks to their own safety to ensure that the nation can still access the essentials to go about their lives.

The Queen - the fact that she has given her whole life selflessly for her country - and still does so at 94! She has always carried out her duties calmly and really seems to care. Obviously, no one else can have this job too, but similarly anyone else who represents their country, their community, or even their company, with similar dedication.

Our church Choir Master/Organist - who has sadly died now. An amazing character who, I felt, could inspire anyone - a brilliant man who you could listen to for ages, whether talking to adults or children. His actual job was a Dentist. At one point he was a prison dentist and refused the security he was entitled to when treating, in some cases, dangerous prisoners as he felt they deserved the respect of being treated the same as others. In return, they always had the utmost respect for him and there were never any issues.

Charles Dickens - wonderful storyteller. Achieved so much from being sent to work at a boot-blacking factory as a child whilst his Father was imprisoned in Marshalsea debtors prison.

Famous Quote : Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pound ought and six, result ,misery.

Any parent caring for a very sick or disabled child - Still maintaining a smile and happy outlook. People like this inspire me every day.

JK Rowling - Not only an amazing author but has donated over £160 billion quietly to various charities including Comic Relief, Aids charities and MS research.

Shane Cole (founder of Feed Up Warm Up) - he started a soup kitchen in 2018 in Hitchin which he thought would be for a couple of months over winter. He now runs a charity that covers Herts and beyond helping the homeless, vulnerable & needy with food, shelter, clothes & financial help.

Fearnhill staff who have gone above and beyond since March 2020 to ensure students have been able to learn and have their well-being looked after. The communication between school and home and the dedication given are so very inspiring.

Who inspires us and why

Nicola Sturgeon (First Minister of Scotland and leader of the Scottish National Party - the first woman to hold both roles) - born into a normal family in Glasgow, and worked her way up to become one of the most influential women in Europe. She has fought tirelessly to bring about equality not just for women, but for many marginalised groups in society. I admire her empowering leadership and refusal to let barriers get in her way.

People who use their skills for the greater good - I love design and architecture and worked with lots of architects before I became a teacher. The ones who inspire me are those who are more interested in creating public spaces that benefit the mental health of all those who use it, giving the public beautiful places to be, rather than those who chased after private clients. We all have different skills - it's how we use those to make the world a little bit better for everyone around us that counts.

Nelson Mandela (my hero) - anti-apartheid campaigner who ended apartheid in South Africa. Apartheid is racial segregation. It was characterised by an authoritarian political culture based on baasskap (white supremacy) which dominated South Africa's political, social, and economic cultures. After 27 years in prison in 1990 he was freed and negotiated the end of apartheid in South Africa bringing peace to a racially divided country. He went on to become the president of South Africa and a leader of freedom and human rights around the world.

Dr Suzanne Brewerton (my wife) - a person that I have the upmost respect and admiration for. A scientist working for a pharmaceutical company - she works in drug discovery, helping discover cures and new medications to stop horrible diseases. I have always been awed by her passion, hard work and love for her work. She is an inspiration to me.

Sandra Lee (Dr Pimple Popper) - a dermatologist who changes people lives. She takes on challenges other doctors can't solve and does some really discussing tasks to improve the physical and mental wellbeing of others. She also opens our eyes to be accepting of others.

My sister - an occupational therapist who works with people who have had traumatic brain injury. She works in a rehab house that takes in those ready to leave hospital but still unsafe to go home and helps to return their brain and their habits. She will also visit their homes to provide and fit equipment like ramps and handles to make it safe for them to get back to as normal as possible.

Congratulations to Kerry Maddox 13DME & Charlotte Pryke 12MBS for being the first to correctly answer the National Careers Week Quiz questions...

UK University & Apprenticeship Search Virtual Fairs

A new UK University & Apprenticeship Search Virtual Fair is taking place on Wednesday 17th March from 12-6pm. Following the success of the virtual event in January, they are bringing the highly interactive fair back for even more students to experience, with over 100 universities, colleges and apprenticeship providers joining.

This event will allow you to explore all your post-18 options in one place, with a huge range of exhibitors. Universities will include Russell Group, red brick, modern and specialist institutions, as well as colleges and apprenticeship providers. You'll be able to explore exhibition stands, live chat with admissions officers, student ambassadors, academics and recruitment teams to ask any questions you have, view prospectuses and information, and take part in 10 live and interactive webinars in the auditorium.

The event is completely free of charge to students, parents and teachers from anywhere in the UK. The event is designed to make researching post-18 options really engaging, there will be lots of interactive elements for you to explore virtually whilst at school or at home.

The event is ideal for Year 12s to explore all the fantastic higher education and career options available, as well as being a fantastic way for Year 11s to gain motivation and inspiration. It is also recommend attending if you are currently in Year 13, as this event will help you to decide upon your firm and insurance choices, or explore apprenticeships if you are looking to take that path.

Apprenticeship & Post 16 Parent Perception Survey

As part of our Careers Education action plan we are very keen to gain a better understanding of parents/carers thoughts around apprenticeships and other post-school options for your child. Though our partnership with Hertfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership and Amazing Apprenticeships we have been asked to share an online survey which we'd be very grateful if you could take the time to complete. All responses will be submitted anonymously. The results of this survey will help us to ensure that we can provide your child and you with the most relevant and useful information about their future options. The link below will take you straight to the survey. It is open until the end of the Easter holidays. Please click here: <https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/2GXKTNJ>

Thank you in advance for your time and for helping to support our young people's future.

Intermediate UK Maths Challenge Results 2021

I am really pleased to announce the results of the Intermediate UK Maths Challenge that some of our Year 9, 10 and 11 students took part in just before February half term. This is a national challenge with only the top students in the country being awarded a certificate.

Congratulations to the following students who have been awarded certificates:

Best in school: Kieron Reeve
Silver Award: Kieron Reeve
Bronze Award: Daniel Lambley
Kathryn Lincoln

Well done to the following students who also attempted the challenge and put their logic skills to the test:

It's Pi Week !

As World Book Day has come and gone, it is time for the Maths Department to now celebrate the magical number that is Pi. For those of you who have forgotten, this is the number that relates the number of diameters to the circumference of a circle. It is celebrated on the March the 14th (3.14) so we are running the celebration next week .

Fearnhill will be doing this through very different activities for students to take part in.

 Memorising Pi: This activity will be run in one of the computer rooms each day (with a different year group in them each day to ensure social distancing). Students will have a go at stating as many digits of Pi as possible. Layla in Year 9 holds the school record at over 100 places! Can she be beaten?

 Pi Day Einstein Puzzle: Students will have an Einstein puzzle to complete. This is a logic puzzle where people and items need placing in the correct place based on clues.

 Pi Day Art Challenge: Students have a 15 square grid (the next two digits are 3.13) which can be decorated with a mathematical theme.

 Sudoku Challenge: This is the toughest challenge. Students have a sudoku puzzle which requires not the digits 1-9 but the first twelve digits of Pi placed in the grid. This is a very hard challenge but we will encourage the students to have a go!

We hope that all our students will enjoy these challenges and see what fun can be had with numbers!

Turn On The Subtitles

A new national campaign called 'Turn on The Subtitles' has been launched. The initiative is trying to do two things: firstly raise awareness amongst parents that turning on the subtitles for their children will improve their literacy, in many cases, dramatically. And secondly encourage broadcasters and content providers to turn on the subtitles by default for TV programmes aimed exclusively at young children.

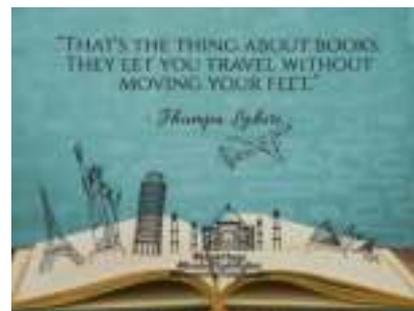

Turning on the subtitles whilst children are watching television can double the chances of a child becoming good at reading. Based on an academic study of 2,350 children, 34% became good readers with schooling alone. But when exposed to 30 minutes a week of subtitled film songs, that proportion more than doubled to 70%.

It is so brilliantly simple and can help children's literacy so much. This is such a great idea for students and their younger siblings coming up to the school in future years. It should help with spelling too.

Find out more about the research and endorsements from world leaders and celebrities here.

World Book Day Message

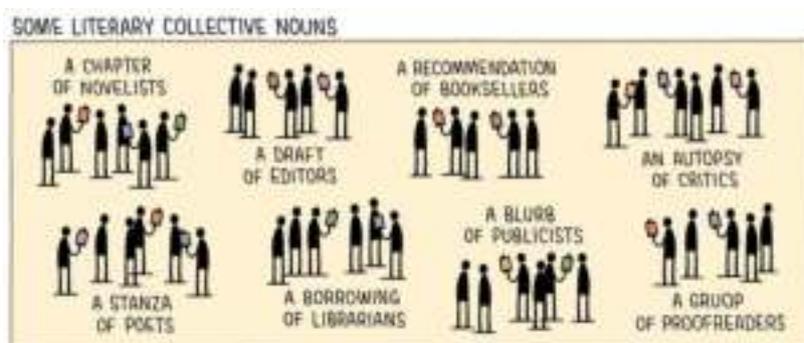

To celebrate World Book Day, we recorded a special message with some familiar faces. Special thanks to the Page Turners for their contributions. Turn the sound up and enjoy.

Hard copy World Book Day vouchers are being distributed to students by form tutors.

Welcometh Backeth

English teachers have been delighted to welcome students back into the classrooms this week. We all commented on how much they have grown!

KS3 students have embarked on a journey into the wonderful world of Shakespeare. Year 7 have been taken on a virtual journey to The Globe Theatre; we hope that soon we might be able to visit in real life! Year 8s have started reading their first full play and Year 9s have been immersed into Shakespearean Scotland with their study of Macbeth. I have enjoyed hearing the English corridors filled with students' choral reading of 'Fair is foul and foul is fair' this week!

Year 11 students have made a positive start to their GCSE English by planning their talk for their spoken language assessment. Students have chosen topics ranging from Brexit, to racism in sport – should be an interesting debate next week!

Well, what a fantastic day we had last week; full of amazing photos of students reading and making good use of used toilet rolls! It was pleasing to see so many getting involved and collecting house points along the way.

A big thank you to the Fearnhill teachers who dressed up and filmed themselves reading. You will be seeing more teachers reading in the coming weeks when I launch our weekly reading challenge. Watch this space!

Mr Fowler reads The Advent of Sarnakand Jonathan Broad

Miss Corbin reads Das Quindis

Ms Brooks reads Never Let Me Go

Mr Turner reads Glory Gardens

Year 10 Writing Superstar!

This week, I'd like to shine a spotlight on a student who has written a fantastic short story. Keira M's 'Heavenly Nightmares' is a brilliantly compelling story that will keep you engaged until the very last word. Here's the opening paragraph:

The moon, which was in the shape of a crescent, shone brightly in the night sky as I woke, restless, unable to sleep. There were too many thoughts in my head to even think about sleeping. I felt as if someone was watching me, looking over me, trying to make me feel uneasy. Whoever or whatever it was, they weren't here to do good. I was feeling so uneasy. My heart pounded in my chest, beads of sweat dripped down by forehead. Why did I feel this way? Why couldn't I sleep? There was nobody in my room except me, I was sure of it. I closed my eyes in an attempt to get to sleep when, suddenly, my window burst open...

If that whetted your appetite, head over the Fearnhill Writers blog to read the whole spine-tingling story.

Literacy News

The literacy teachers will be meeting with their reading groups next week to continue with all the wonderful reading they have been doing over lockdown. We will be running fluency sessions to see how much reading progress the students have made so far this year.

Don't forget to sign up for Hertfordshire Libraries' Borrow Box. English teachers have uploaded a google doc to their Google Classrooms for each student to save their password on so that they can have access to the wide variety of books and audio books for free every day.

Keeping Fit and Active During Lockdown Number 3!

Over this lockdown period, the PE department has been uploading workouts and activities that Fearnhill students could access and use as part of their daily routines.

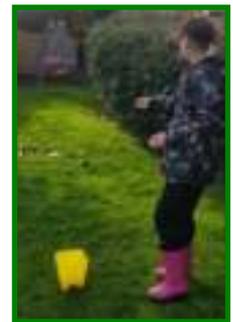

There has been a PE project for the last two weeks on google classroom and students have been able to track and record their physical activity and inform the PE department of their efforts. Our key worker students have had the opportunity to participate in daily PE sessions of which included badminton, Invasion games and mile walks.

We have been delighted with the engagement and enthusiasm of our students during such as difficult time.

Brooke keeps very active!

'I have like having the break time PE; I found it great fun.' Summer Groves

Ruby's bike ride

Emily's walk

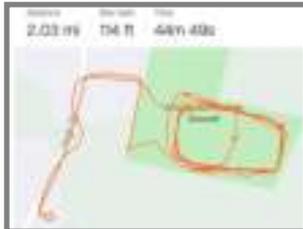

'Every couple of days, if the weather is ok, I go on a walk with either my mum or my brother.' Tarun Niranjnan
